On Thursday 2nd February 2012, in collaboration with the French Trade Commission - UBIFRANCE of the French Embassy, the French company “ABALONE Energie” expert in renewable and alternative energy producing presented during the Franco-Thai Symposium a lecture on “The autonomous positive energy and zero pollution building with its own energetic network” by Mr. Barnabé BAUDU, Project Manager, ABALONE Energie. (For technical information: www.abalone-energie.com)

ABALONE head office, a precursor architectural project:

ABALONE GROUP is the specialist of the human and sustainable resources in France. Its head office building is designed to ultimately be a heart of advanced technology and exchanges, involving adequate work and comfort space. Precursor and unique, it combines unpublished technologies such as hydrogen and fuel cells, together with a mixed efficient energetic solution: solar, photovoltaic, solar thermal, wind turbine and Canadian well.

The participants to this session from both public and private sectors included technicians, researchers, as well as architects, engineers, and contractors.

ABALONE’s project addresses the regional and industrial actors, the political and local authorities, but also the public in general and to everyone concerned by the future of our planet.

ABALONE Energie is looking for a partnership and opportunity to work with architects, contractors and the local authorities in Thailand to create green building projects.
